The Rialto Bridge is a handsome structure across the Grand Canal, consisting of a single marble arch of 71 feet span and 32 feet in height resting on 240 piles, which was constructed by Giovanni da Ponte, 1588-92. The neighbourhood of this bridge was the site of the ancient city of Venice, and the district is the locality which Shakespeare refers to in "The Merchant of Venice." The flower, fruit and vegetable market is found on the west side of the Bridge.
